City and University	Auckland: Located on the North Island. It's the nation's largest city built on the sloping hills of extinct volcanoes, Auckland holds unlimited access to adventure. University of Auckland: The largest university in New Zealand extending over eight city blocks. NZ's flagship research institution, U of A has over 50 research centers.	Christchurch: Located on the east coast of the South Island. University of Canterbury: Strengths in STEM, especially computer science and civil engineering (note that our other South Island partner, Otago, does not offer engineering) and business.	Dunedin: Located on the South Island. Historical coastal city offers easy access to beaches, hiking, and extraordinary wildlife. With its eclectic history, Dunedin is a unique city among the more touristed locations in the country. University of Otago: New Zealand's first university. The campus lifestyle at Otago has been consistently ranked well among students. With ocean on one side and mountains on the other it may feel a bit like UCSB.	Hamilton: Located on the North Island is in a central location perfect for enjoying and exploring the best that New Zealand has to offer. University of Waikato: Choose classes from a range of disciplines. Style of education allowing you to focus on your major. The indigenous Polynesian people of New Zealand, the Māori, are fully integrated at Waikato with a complete calendar of cultural events and the Faculty of Māori and Indigenous Studies.	Wellington: Located on the North Island New Zealand's capital city, is a thriving and energetic city brimming with cafés, and museums. With beautiful natural surroundings, where you can experience New Zealand's most famous activities, surfing and hiking. Victoria University of Wellington: located in Kelburn, a residential area of Wellington one mile from the city center. Strong coursework in English, New Zealand literature, Maori, Pacific, and Asian studies, linguistics, environmental & ecological sciences, geography, political science, theater and film.	Tauranga:
