City and University	Wellington: Located on the North Island New Zealand's capital city, is a thriving and energetic city brimming with cafés, and museums. With beautiful natural surroundings, where you can experience New Zealand's most famous activities, surfing and hiking. Massey University Wellington campus: In the arts and cultural district of Wellington and home to the College of Creative Arts, the internationally recognized School of Design, and the School of Music and Creative Media Production.	Auckland: Located on the North Island. It's the nation's largest city built on the sloping hills of extinct volcanoes, Auckland holds unlimited access to adventure. University of Auckland: The largest university in New Zealand extending over eight city blocks. NZ's flagship research institution, U of A has over 50 research centers.	Hamilton: Located on the North Island in a central location perfect for enjoying and exploring the best that New Zealand has to offer. University of Waikato: Choose classes from a range of disciplines. style of education allowing you to focus on your major. The indigenous Polynesian people of New Zealand, the Māori, are fully integrated at Waikato with a complete calendar of cultural events and the Faculty of Māori and Indigenous Studies.	Wellington: Located on the North Island New Zealand's capital city, is a thriving and energetic city brimming with cafés, and museums. With beautiful natural surroundings, where you can experience New Zealand's most famous activities, surfing and hiking. Victoria University of Wellington: located in Kelburn, a residential area of Wellington one mile from the city center. Strong coursework in English, New Zealand literature, Maori, Pacific, and Asian studies, linguistics, environmental & ecological sciences, geography, political science, theater and film.	Dunedin: Located on the South Island. Historical coastal city offers easy access to beaches, hiking, and extraordinary wildlife. With its eclectic history, Dunedin is a unique city among the more touristed locations in the country. University of Otago: New Zealand's first university. The campus lifestyle at Otago has been consistently ranked well among students. With ocean on one side and mountains on the other it may feel a bit like UCSB.	Christchurch: Located on the east coast of the South Island. University of Canterbury: Strengths in STEM, especially computer science and civil engineering (note that our other South Island partner, Otago, does not offer engineering) and business.
