Section 3: Frequently Asked Questions

Community Housing

I'm planning to live in Isla Vista, Goleta or Santa Barbara and study abroad for a term next year. How should I handle my housing here?

Here are some of your options:

- 1) Sign a full year lease for an I.V. apartment and find a sublesser for the quarter(s) you will be abroad.
- 2) Do not sign a full year lease and look for an apartment to sublease for the quarters you will be back at UCSB.

UCSB students study abroad during the fall, winter and spring terms. Most go during the fall but many also go during winter/spring. Fall UCEAP students might be able to sublease to spring UCEAP students, and vice versa.

What should I do if I'm interested in one of the above options?

You are strongly encouraged to consult with the UCSB Community Housing Office to ensure that you have the proper forms and documentation. Signing a lease is a legal and financial commitment so it's best for you to obtain guidance on these matters.

We recommend posting your available room or searching for a sublease on the University & Community Housing listing site and Facebook pages.

University Housing

As a contingency plan should my UCEAP program be canceled due to COVID, can I have an active UCEAP application and UCSB housing application for the same term?

Yes. Submit your applications by the deadline. It is your responsibility to understand the deadlines and financial obligations should you need to withdraw from UCEAP or cancel your Housing contract. If you sign-up for both and do not cancel one, you may be liable for outstanding fees due to your inaction.

If I submit a housing application, do I need to inform University & Community Housing Services of my intention to study abroad should my program proceed as planned?

Answer: If you have not yet been offered a housing contract, you can simply disregard any offer you receive. If you have already completed a housing contract, you will need to submit a housing cancellation with University & Community Housing Services prior to September 1 for fall, December 1 for winter, or March 1 for spring.

If I accept a housing contract for the full academic year, can I break my contract if I decide to study abroad winter quarter? Will I be guaranteed a housing spot when I return to UCSB for spring quarter?

Yes, you may submit a housing cancellation to University & Community Housing Services by December 1 for winter without penalty, as long as you are participating in the UCSB sponsored Education Abroad Program.

No, you will not be guaranteed a housing spot at UCSB for spring quarter. You are advised to submit another housing application specifically for the spring.

If I study abroad for the fall term, will I be guaranteed a housing spot when I return to UCSB for winter quarter?

While housing cannot be guaranteed, you are advised to submit a housing application for the winter quarter. Be sure to submit an application as early as possible once the application opens.

If I accept a housing contract for the full academic year, can I break my contract if I decide to study abroad spring quarter?

Yes, you may submit a housing cancellation to University & Community Housing Services by March 1 for spring without penalty, as long as you are participating in the UCSB sponsored Education Abroad Program.
